Olympic Family Discussion Guide

As you watch the different Olympic events throughout the next few weeks, ask your kids about what they are watching: the countries represented, the culture of the area, and the sports being played. Grab a globe or a large map and help your kids find the countries of their favorite athletes. Here are some simple questions you could consider discussing as a family:

- What country are the athletes from? Where is that on a map?
- How are these people similar to you and me? How are they different?
- What are the typical foods like from that country?
- What do people from this country usually wear?
- What language or languages are spoken there?
- Do people in this country know Jesus? How many?
- How might we pray for God to be known in this country?
